WHEN TO REPLACE FENDERS:

Fender lifespan varies based on usage, but typically last 3-7 years under normal highway conditions and less in harsh environments: construction, off-road, heavy debris exposure, etc. Replace yours if you notice cracks or splits, missing sections, loose or broken mounts, or excessive deformation and sagging.

MAINTENANCE AND TIPS:

- Inspect fenders during routine walkarounds
- Check mounting brackets and hardware regularly for looseness
- Clean buildup of mud, snow, or debris to prevent stress and damage
- Ensure proper tire clearance to avoid rubbing
- Tighten or replace hardware at the first sign of vibration issues
- Pro tip: if you're replacing fenders more frequently than you think you should, the issue could be mounting-related and not the fender itself. Use with Fleetrite Mounting Kits for optimal performance.
